JANUARY			The Victorian Aboriginal Education Association Inc. (VAEAI) is the peak Koorie community-controlled body for Aboriginal Education and training in Victoria. Explore the VAEAI website , subscribe for newsletters and follow us on Facebook. VAEAI website: http://www.vaeai.org.au/	Protocols for Koorie Education in Victorian Primary and Secondary Schools has been produced by VAEAI following requests for guidance on appropriate protocols for schools to follow in providing a welcoming school environment for Koorie community members, and working respectfully with the Koorie community to enrich school curricula. Protocols for schools: CLICK HERE	We highly recommend consulting with Aboriginal people and Aboriginal sources for information. Where available, your local LAECG is a good first point of contact and VAEAI can assist with contacts. Try to work with local community people and Elders, and always respect their intellectual and cultural property rights.	The Victorian Aboriginal Education Association Inc. (VAEAI) was first established in 1976 as the Victorian Aboriginal Education Consultative Group (VAECG). The shared aim of the VAECG was to increase the presence and voice of Koorie people in education decision making at a time when limited Aboriginal organisations existed. Today VAEAI continues to represent the Victorian Koorie Community in relation to education policy development and strategic programming at local, state and national levels. VAEAI supports the provision of education and training that reinforces the Koorie community's cultural identity, and increases awareness in the wider community of Koorie cultures, histories and aspirations in education and training.

A celebration of who we are as a nation? A day of mourning and invasion? A celebration of survival? Australians hold many different views on what the 26th of January means to them. In 2017 some councils controversially decided to no longer celebrate Australia Day on this day, and 'Change the Date' is the slogan of a prominent campaign and subject of many debates. This however is not the first protest held on January 26. Research the First Day of Mourning, involving Victorian Yorta Yorta leaders William Cooper and Sir Doug Nicholls. In 1972 on this day, the Aboriginal Tent Embassy was set on the lawns of Canberra House, a huge thing at the time! Consider why there is continuing debate and conflicting emotions about our national day. For the first Australians the day essentially marks the survival of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people and their cultures. For non-Indigenous Australians it marks the landing of the First Fleet, a group of eleven ships from Britain that landed on the shores of Botany Bay where the clash of two cultures and the fight for one land began. The first Day of Mourning was a protest held by Aboriginal Australians on 26 January 1938, the 150th anniversary of the British colonisation of Australia. From 1940 until 1955, the National Day of Mourning was held annually on the Sunday before Australia Day and was known as Aborigines Day. In 1955 Aborigines Day was shifted to the first Sunday in July after it was decided the day should become not simply a protest day but also a celebration of Aboriginal culture and survival.

1965 Freedom Rides Anniversary

Learn about the 1965 Freedom Rides headed by NSW Aboriginal university students Charles Perkins and Gary Williams. In this NFSA teaching resource, Charles Perkins talks about why in 1999, and we hear from Gary Williams in this Nambucca Guardian article from 2015.

View and download VAEAI's feature The 1965 Freedom Rides for a host of curriculum-aligned activities, online links and multimedia resources.

This AIATSIS site features the diaries of freedom rider Ann Curthoys, a photographic exhibition and a great reading list with list of sources, news articles and external websites about the 1965 Freedom Ride such as the curated online exhibition, The 1965 Freedom Ride which brings together primary sources from students who took part in this landmark event with newspaper coverage from the time.

Previously unpublished photographs of the Rides discovered in the NSW State Library archives were first exhibited in 2015. Encourage students to explore these photographs, valuable for discussions and presentations.

Why were students compelled to take this action? What do these types of actions hope to achieve?

Are there connections or parallels between these and other actions, like students campaigning around global warming and climate change, or more broadly BLM in 2020?

One lesson we can all draw from the Freedom Ride is the importance of speaking out against injustice, challenging oppression and discrimination, and doing it now.

Ann Curthoys, honorary professor, author, original freedom-rider

On February 12, 1965, a group of Sydney University students called Student Action for Aborigines (SAFA), led by Aboriginal students Charles Perkins and Gary Williams, began a trip that would change Australian history. Their journey was both inspired by the US Civil Rights Movement actions in the early 1960s 'adopting principles of passive (non-violent) resistance laid down Martin Luther King', according to Perkins, and designed to expose the racist underbelly of Australian society in rural NSW.

The book Freedom Ride: a freedom rider remembers by Ann Curthoys, relives the experience of the Freedom Ride, drawing largely upon a diary written during the journey and the recollections of Indigenous and non-Indigenous people who were involved. Contemporary media reports as well as secondary accounts supplement the story, drawing attention to the impact of the ride and highlighting the ways in which the events have been remembered.

30 March	Anniversary of Gunditjmara native title recognition and settlement	With your students, research Gunditjmara Country, people history and culture. If able, invite Gunditjmara community members to come to the class or school and speak about Gunditjmara matters. With older students research the Gunditjmara struggle for Native Title recognition. Lake Condah, extremely significant to Gunditjmara People, is an Indigenous Protected Area. Visit or learn about Indigenous Protected Areas (IPAs) in Victoria, such as Kurtonitj or Lake Condah in the South-west of Victoria. In 2011, a Bush Blitz occurred on Gunditjmara country with Traditional Owners to survey biodiversity in the IPAs. Investigate the program and some of the flora and fauna surveyed. Research and discuss management strategies, and how to work collaboratively with Traditional Owners to preserve ecological biodiversity. Watch the video with Gunditjmara Elder Ken Saunders about involving Traditional Owners to survey biodiversity in IPAs and investigate the program and some of the flora and fauna surveyed. Research the lives of Gunditjmara Elders and community members who have been strong advocates like Edna Brown and William Rawlings, the Lovett Brothers, Laura Bell, Young Australian of the Year state finalist Benson Saulo who is the first Indigenous consul-general to the US, world famous singer Archie Roach, playwright, author and musician Richard Frankland and Australia's first commissioned Aboriginal officer, Capt. Regarded as the world's first engineering project, the extensive and elaborate system of channels and dam walls were used over millennia predominately for catching short-finned eels for consumption and trade. Go to our curriculum-aligned STEM feature for more details and online resources. Woven eel trap 	On the 30th March 2007, Gunditjmara People in south-western Victoria won an 11-year legal battle for native title rights over 140,000 hectares of crown land. Celebrations were held on Gunditjmara country to celebrate the native title consent determination – a determination that was reached through the consent of all parties, rather than litigation. The celebrations were at the base of the volcanic mountain Budj Bim, also known as Mount Eccles National Park, and followed a special hearing of the Federal Court of Australia on Country. On this day, the Gunditjmara people spoke about how the native title determination was the end of a long struggle for recognition of their status as the first peoples of their country. They also talked about their future work to protect their native title rights and interests, and how the business of land justice continues. See: https://aiatsis.gov.au/sites/default/files/research_pub/weir-2009-gunditjmara-land-justice-story_0_3.pdf  The Federal Court convening at Budj Bim (formerly Mt Eccles national park), for the Gunditjmara Native title claim. Six reserves were investigated together comprising the IPAs of Lake Condah, Kurtonitj and Tyrendarra. Sites at the Lake Condah Mission were also surveyed, situated 350 km from Melbourne. The survey team included experts from Museum Victoria, Royal Botanic Gardens Melbourne, University of NSW, SA Museum and the Australian Biological Resources Study. A highlight of the survey was the close collaboration between the Gunditjmara traditional owners, the Working on Country Budj Bim Rangers and the visiting scientists. In total, 854 species new to the reserves were identified and 18 are possibly new to science!

Most Excellency Lord Stonehaven, State Governor, Canberra House, N.S.W. I'm a full - blooded Aboriginal by birth decent from Royal Blood. I used to write letters to Queen Victoria in my young days. Your most Excellency, I beg to ask of his Excellency a great favour - would his Excellency kindly grant me permission to get my three grand - children who were snatched suddenly from me by an Ordering Council under escort of Nurse Singleton from Lake Tyres Aboriginal Reserve, transferred to the State Public Home, Melbourne. Three girls ages ranging from 13 years, 5<sup>1</sup>/<sub>4</sub> years, baby 2<sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub> years Mary Darby, Sarah Darby and Nelly Darby. The three girls were my only comfort when their mother Lizzie Darby, my daughter, expired nine months ago at the Bairnsdalegate Hospital. When we came down to the town Captain Newman made a covenant with me in the presence of Patrol Walter M'Creedy, that I could have the three grand - daughters till such time I'd be married. On the eve of my marriage to Mrs. Edwards who looked after and never neglected the children, they were snatched away by an Ordering Council. I wish to bring under your Excellency's consideration the matter. I was decoyed to marry for the sake of the three grand - daughters, to keep them, and for them to be snatched away by an Ordering Council. God is no respecter of persons. We are in His sight equal to all His subjects. Before the white people came to Australia. God gave us children to bring and train up for His service in our own disposition. Our disposition is instilled in our children and I don't consider it fair the white people should deprive us of our children to bring them up in their disposition. It can never be done. I am, Yr. obedient Servant, (SGD.) 27 May	Anniversary of the 1967 Referendum	On 1 January 1901, the Australian Constitution came into effect, establishing the Commonwealth of Australia. There were two references to Aboriginal people contained in the Australian Constitution of 1901. Firstly, section 51 of the Constitution gave the Commonwealth power to make laws with respect to 'people of any race, other than the Aboriginal race in any state, for whom it was deemed necessary to make special laws.' Secondly, section 127 of the Constitution provided that 'in reckoning the numbers of people of the Commonwealth, or of a State or other part of the Commonwealth, aboriginal natives shall not be counted'. State governments, not Federal, were responsible for the welfare of Aboriginal people until the 1967 referendum - a critical difference. View and download VAEAI's interactive online resource: The 1967 Referendum for background information, suggested activities and links to teaching resources and the Vic Curriculum. 50 years on from the 1967 referendum, WA Nhanhagardi Elder, the late Clarrie Cameron shared his thoughts and some memories of this historic event. This was a momentous turning point in Australian history. More than 90% of Australian voters chose 'Yes' to count Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples in the census and give the Australian Government the power to make laws for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples. The purpose of the 1967 Referendum was to make two changes to the Australian Constitution. These changes enabled the Commonwealth Government to: (i) Make laws for all the Australian people by amending s51 of the Constitution (previously people of the 'Aboriginal race in any state' were excluded); and (ii) Take account of Aboriginal people in determining the population of Australia by repealing s127 of the constitution (formerly, Aboriginal people had been haphazardly included in the census but not counted for the purposes of Commonwealth funding grants to the states or territories) From 1967, Aboriginal people were counted in the census and included in base figures for Commonwealth funding granted to the states and territories on a per capita basis. Contrary to popular thinking the 1967 Referendum did NOT <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>– give Aboriginal peoples the right to vote</li> <li>– give Aboriginal peoples citizenship rights</li> <li>– give Aboriginal peoples the right to be counted in the census.</li> </ul>  Bill Onus's protest banner in the 1940s.

Every year, the week is held between the same dates, 27 May to 3 June. The dates draw attention to significant historical events. The 27 May marks the day in 1967 when the referendum was passed for the Australian Government to make laws for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islanders and to allow them to be recognised in the census. The 3rd of June marks the day in 1992 that led the Australian Government to recognise native title and acknowledge Indigenous Australians as the original occupants of Australia.

31 May	Shrine of Remembrance Annual Victorian Aboriginal Commemorative Service	Aboriginal people have served in every conflict and peace keeping mission involving Australia for more than a century. For many years, their service was not recognised. In 2006, the late Aunty Dorothy 'Dot' Peters AM (1930 - 2019) whose father died in service as a prisoner of war (PoW) on the Thai-Burma Railway, sought to change this and initiated the honouring of Aboriginal service men and women in Victoria. In 2007, the first Victorian Aboriginal Remembrance Service was held at the Shrine of Remembrance in Melbourne. The annual event is held on 31 May at the Shrine of Remembrance. In 2020, the dedicated commemorative service was delivered via live video broadcast on the day, which is well worth viewing. Consider participating in the 16th annual Victorian Aboriginal commemorative service at the Shrine of Remembrance this year, from 11am with your students if the event is held live, or alternatively, view the live broadcast. Download DVA's Indigenous Service School Resources for primary and secondary school levels for background and suggested inquiry activities. Explore the recommended resources under ANZAC Day in this calendar, for more.	Shrine of Remembrance Victorian Aboriginal commemorative service: https://www.aboriginalvictoria.vic.gov.au/victorian-aboriginal-remembrance-service Indigenous Service Publications https://anzacportal.dva.gov.au/resources/indigenous-service-school-resources Dorothy Peters https://www.aboriginalvictoria.vic.gov.au/dorothy-peters More resources are listed under the April 25, ANZAC Day calendar entry.	 2015 Shrine of Remembrance Poster Competition, winning entry by Emily Hall, Grade 5, Genazzano FCI College, Kew	The Shrine of Remembrance Victorian Aboriginal Commemorative Service is a commemoration and wreath laying ceremony for Indigenous service men and women, held annually at 11am on the 31st May. Aboriginal people have served in every conflict and peace keeping mission involving Australia for more than a century but for many years, their service was not recognised equally. The late Aunty Dorothy (Dot) Peters' father, Vincent, was a Yorta Yorta man born at the Cummeragunja Mission in New South Wales. He fought in World War II, but was captured and died a prisoner of war on the Thai-Burma railway. The prejudices of the day meant her father's sacrifice for his country went unacknowledged. His family did not receive any of the support afforded other relatives of those killed, and when Coranderrk was annexed as a returned soldier settlement, no land was given to them. Aunty Dot always insisted that her father's memory should be properly honoured and formal recognition given to the significant contribution made by Aboriginal men and women in the Australian Armed forces. In 2006, she approached the Healesville Returned and Services League (RSL) and persuaded it to take part in Reconciliation Week, and soon after, began discussions with the Victorian Government. Shortly after, on 31 May 2006, the first Victorian Indigenous Men and Women Remembrance Service was held at the Shrine of Remembrance. For the first time, the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander flags were raised at the Shrine. The service is now held annually and has been adopted nationwide. Following a lifetime of advocacy and education, Aunty Dot sadly passed away in 2019. Read more.	 Victorian Indigenous Remembrance Service honouring Indigenous service men and women

June

World Environment Day

World Environment Day is celebrated every year on June 5 to raise global awareness to take positive environmental action to protect nature and the planet Earth.

Visit or learn about Indigenous Protected Areas. Focus on Victorian Indigenous Protected Areas (IPA), such as Kurtonitj or Lake Condah in the South-west of Victoria. IPAs across the country can be found by selecting the online map.

Winda-Mara's Land Management Unit manages over 3000 hectares of Aboriginal-owned land spanning over 10 properties, all which are considered culturally significant to the local people and now all under the Budj Bim National Heritage Landscape. The Unit's team of Budj Bim Rangers are responsible for all on-ground activities on all the properties, including cultural site protection, weed and pest control, facilities and asset maintenance and development, environmental works, revegetation, maintenance and construction of fences and livestock operations. The Budj Bim Rangers are a mixture of experienced hands and young people starting to learn about Land Management. Research the unit's work

Download the Bush Blitz teaching resource produced by the Australian Science Teachers Association (ASTA), and work with local Koorie where possible to include some of the activities, such a local community cultural educator to talk about movements and interactions of animals in the region. Teachers can further investigate Bush Blitz Teachlive.

Do you have a Bush Tucker expert in your region? Learning about bush tucker is a great introduction to indigenous plant species and traditional Koorie uses.

Did you know that the Gunditjmara in SW Victoria established intricate kuuyang / kooyang, eel trapping and farming systems, and developed smoking techniques to preserve and trade their harvest, possibly one of the first cultures in the world to do so?

"Gunditjmara will conserve Lake Condah. It is an important Gunditjmara place and we have fought hard over many generations to see it returned to us so that we can heal this land. Gunditjmara will restore the natural abundance of the lake and its native plants and animals, for us today, and our future generations!"

World Environment Day is celebrated every year on June 5 to raise global awareness to take positive environmental action to protect nature and the planet Earth. Indigenous Australians have managed their country for tens of thousands of years. An Indigenous Protected Area is an area of Indigenous-owned land or sea where traditional owners have entered into an agreement with the Australian Government to promote biodiversity and cultural resource conservation. Indigenous Protected Areas make a significant contribution to Australian biodiversity conservation - making up over a third of Australia's National Reserve System.

Bush Blitz is Australia's largest nature discovery project to document the plants and animals in properties across Australia.

Bush Blitz TeachLive is a week-long immersive nature-based citizen science experience designed to build the capacity of teachers to facilitate high quality learning on environment and sustainability issues using real-world research projects. Primary, secondary and specialist-school teachers become research assistants on Earthwatch expeditions, helping scientists with vital data collection, while communicating their experiences back to their students in the classroom via the Teachers Blog. Students take a virtual live scientific expedition with their on-site-teacher, in an inspirational way.

Whether calling classrooms via satellite phone in the dark rainforests of Brazil's Pantanal, or skyping sessions from the Australian Outback, teachers who take part in the program not only experience scientific research at its best but are given the opportunity to bring a unique learning experience to their students and schools. Through education and experience, we gain the understanding necessary to enact change and continue to strive for innovative and effective strategies for conserving our environment. Anniversary of Batman's Treaty with the Kulin, signed in 1835

In 1835, John Batman declared that he had negotiated a treaty to claim the lands of the people of the Kulin Nation. However, this 'treaty' was not valid under English or Kulin laws. While it is recognised as being an invalid treaty to the disadvantage of the Kulin, it was the first and only documented time when Europeans attempted to negotiate their presence until recent times.

Explore the National Museum Australia's educational resources about Batman's treaty. Visit State Library Victoria's teachers page which examines some problems historians have with Batman's treaty - through primary source analysis and discussion questions. View Batman's Treaty and transcript of the Batman Land Deed.

Discuss (mis)understandings, alternate world views and the terms of this original transaction. Further research and discuss current views and activities around treaty negotiations nationally and in Victoria.

A contemporary Victorian Koorie community perspective on Treaty can be found on the First Peoples' Assembly website. ANTar's education resources examine what Treaty is, the history of Treaties with First Nations here and elsewhere, and current campaigns in Time for Treaty.

More broadly, learn about Kulin Nations. This Yarra Healing webpage is a good starter for schools.

Did you know that before being officially named, Melbourne had several interim names including Batmania, in honour of John Batman?

Read How Melbourne might have been called 'Batmania': and how the city and streets got their name, in this article by The Argus [1943].

Batman's Treaty: Today we acknowledge the anniversary of the signing of Batman's Treaty in 1835 by a group of 8 Kulin Elders - including Wurundjeri Ngurungaetas (most senior leaders) Bebejan (Babajen) and three brothers with the same name, Jika Jika (Jaga Jaga) or Billibellary – and John Batman, an Australian born grazier, businessman and explorer, for the purchase of land around Port Phillip, near the present site of the city of Melbourne.

John Batman believed he was trading land for 600,000 acres of land, with 40 pairs of blankets, 42 tomahawks, 130 knives, 62 pairs of scissors, 40 looking glasses, 250 handkerchiefs, 18 shirts, 4 flannel jackets, 4 suits of clothes and 150 lb. of flour. The Kulin would not have been trading their territorial rights in this exchange.

Batman's Treaty is significant, as it was the first and only documented time when Europeans attempted to negotiate their presence and occupation of Aboriginal lands directly with the traditional owners, in accordance with English Common Law. However, the treaty was declared void by the Governor of New South Wales Richard Bourke, on the basis that the Kulin people did not have a right to deal with the land, which 'belonged' to the Crown.

Gazetting of Coranderrk Reserve:

On the 30th June 1863, the Victorian Government Gazette reported that 2,300 acres of land around Badger's Creek in what is now Healesville, had been temporarily reserved "For the use of Aborigines (in lieu of the land at Watt's Creek) by Order of the 22nd June 1863," following a deputation to Queen Victoria during her visit in the same year by 15 Wurundjeri (Woiwurrung), Boon Wurrung and Taungurung people.

3-10 July	NAIDOC Week	NAIDOC week can be recognised in schools at any time of the year – even nationally as we saw in 2020 due to the COVID-19 pandemic but holding events close to the actual official week makes it more relevant. With local Koorie community members and colleagues organise a range of cultural activities such as performances, films, stories, and workshops live or virtually. The NAIDOC 2022 theme - Get Up! Stand Up! Show Up! - encourages us to continue to Get Up! Stand Up! Show Up! for systemic change and keep rallying around our mob, our Elders, our communities. It's also time to celebrate the many who have driven and led change in our communities over generations—they have been the heroes and champions of change, of basic and equal human rights. Contact the NAIDOC Committee for posters and local events as well as the Victorian NAIDOC Committee. Download the 2022 NAIDOC colouring-in-poster and 2022 education resources (from early June). The week is celebrated not just in the Indigenous communities but also within government agencies, schools, local councils and workplaces. The 2022 theme "Get Up! Stand Up! Show Up!" is a call for action to bring about "systemic change and keep rallying around our mob, our Elders, our communities." In the press release for the 2022 NAIDOC Week theme, the National NAIDOC Committee (NNC) explained how this year's theme reflects and acknowledges the hidden history of this country and the significant acts and achievements of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples in the fight for their rights: "We have a proud history of getting up, standing up, and showing up. From the frontier wars and our earliest resistance fighters to our Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities fighting for change today—we continue to show up. Now is our time. We cannot afford to lose momentum for change. We all must continue to Get Up! Stand Up! Show Up! for systemic change and keep rallying around our mob, our Elders, our communities. Whether it's seeking proper environmental, cultural and heritage protections, Constitutional change, a comprehensive process of truth-telling, working towards treaties, or calling out racism—we must do it together... We need to move beyond just acknowledgement, good intentions, empty words and promises, and hollow commitments. Enough is enough. The relationship between Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples and non-Indigenous Australians needs to be based on justice, equity, and the proper recognition of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples' rights... Get Up! Meerreeng-an - Here Is My Country: The Story of Aboriginal Victoria Told Through Art, portrays the richness and diversity of Victorian Aboriginal culture through artworks and stories from the early 19th century to the present day. Over 340 artworks and artefacts are featured, from shields, baskets and possum skin cloaks to contemporary artworks dealing with the Stolen Generations, land rights and reconciliation. Old and new are woven together, demonstrating the continuation of culture, and words and phrases from Victorian Aboriginal languages are used throughout. Artists describe their own artworks, and stories and quotes from Elders and other community members provide cultural and historical context, telling of the importance of Country, of life before Europeans arrival, of invasion and dramatic change, of dislocation and missions, and of the survival and strength of the living culture.

*Note some official reports state the date was July 12, and others the 9th of July. Please let us know if you can confirm the date.

These handovers also mark the first Aboriginal land rights victory in Australia. In 1970 the Aboriginal Lands Act 1970 was passed by the Parliament of Victoria, the first Act to recognise land rights for Aboriginal people in Victoria, which handed ownership of Framlingham in western Victoria to an Aboriginal trust on 1 July 1971. Along with Lake Tyers, Framlingham was the last reserve to close in Victoria. The remaining Lake Tyers residents, then only numbering a couple of hundred, were granted freehold title of the remaining 237 hectares (2.37 km<sup>2</sup>) as part of a self-governing community under the Lake Tyers Aboriginal Trust. Read more about the history of the Framlingham community and the history of the reserve at the very comprehensive archived site Mission Voices. Listen to interviews with Framlingham residents Uncle Lenny Clarke and Uncle Bill Edwards on the Mission Voices site, and discuss aspects of life on Framlingham with students. Prominent Gunditjmarra Elder Banjo Clarke, also known as Rainbow man and Wisdom Man was born on Framlingham. While the Government ran some Aboriginal stations, others were in the control of missionaries such as those of the Anglican or Moravian Churches. Regardless of their secular or religious management, life on Aboriginal stations revolved around efforts to control and 'civilise' Aboriginal people. When researching the life, ethno-cultural background and works of prominent Koories, try and source interviews, articles etc. from descendants and Koorie community members for authentic Aboriginal perspectives.	Framlingham was an Aboriginal reserve established by the Board for the Protection of Aborigines in Victoria, in 1861. It is located beside the Hopkins River in the territory of the Kirrae wurrung near the boundary with the Gunditjmarra, not too far from Warrnambool on the south-west coast of the state. The reserve operated until it was closed in 1916, with Aboriginal community members continuing to reside there today. The people of Framlingham have fought hard for their country, from the sustained guerrilla warfare waged by the Gunditjmarra. Kerrupjmarra and Kirrae wurrung to the activism of residents in the later part of the twentieth century. Since invasion times Framlingham has been a place of struggle. In the early days of its existence control of the station continuously shifted between the Board and the missionaries. The Board attempted to shut Framlingham down a number of times but were met with great resistance by the people of the mission and non-Aboriginal people in nearby townships. The people of Framlingham eventually won ownership of the place that had become home. In 1970, 586 acres were handed over by the government in what was, along with Lake Tyers, the first Aboriginal land rights victory in Australia. The handover was formalised on the 24th July 1971. See https://www.atns.net.au/agreement?EntityID=3461  Aboriginal men and boys at the newly established Framlingham Aboriginal Reserve in 1867. Research their lives and efforts for land rights and recognition.	The Lake Tyers Mission Station was established by the Church of England 1863 following decades of conflict between the Gunai-Kurnai people and white settlers in Gippsland. The chosen site was on a peninsula, with a lake on each side, known to traditional owners as Bung Yarnda. In the early 20th century, Aboriginal people from other Victorian missions, including Ramahyuck, Lake Condah and Coranderrk, were relocated to Lake Tyers. The Ramahyuck Mission was closed in 1908 and the Ganai survivors from W. and central Gippsland were moved to Lake Tyers. The Ebenezer Mission was closed in 1904, and over the following twenty years many Wergaia people from NW Victoria were forcibly moved to Lake Tyers. Lake Tyers was taken over by the Victorian Government in 1908. In 1916 a decision was made to concentrate Aboriginal people from across Victoria at Lake Tyers, with the Aboriginal Protection Board establishing a policy in 1917 to concentrate all "full-blood" and "half-caste" Aboriginal people on the Lake Tyers reserve. Many years later, some of these same families were forced to leave the mission and 'assimilate' into townships. The people of Lake Tyers have been strong and vocal in their struggle to retain their land. In 1971 this fight was rewarded with the return of Bung Yarnda.  Lake Tyers for the Aborigines march, Melbourne 1963. The International Day of the World's Indigenous People aims to promote and protect the rights of the world's indigenous population. There are an estimated 370 million indigenous people in the world, living across 90 countries. Making up less than 5 per cent of the world's population, but accounting for 15 per cent of the poorest, indigenous people speak an overwhelming majority of the world's estimated 7,000 languages and represent 5,000 different cultures. As Indigenous people we 'are inheritors and practitioners of unique cultures and ways of relating to people and the environment. We have retained social, cultural, economic and political characteristics that are distinct from those of the dominant societies in which we live.'  http://www.un.org/en/events/indigenousday/ In Australia, Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people represented 2.8% of the population in the 2016 Census – up from 2.5% in 2011, and 2.3% in 2006. Of the 649,200 people who identified as being of Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander origin, 90.9% were of Aboriginal origin, 5.0% were of Torres Strait Islander origin and 4.1% identified as being of both Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander origin. Indigenous languages are a significant factor in a wide range of other indigenous issues, notably education, scientific and technological development, biosphere and the environment, freedom of expression, employment and social inclusion. However, many indigenous peoples continue to be confronted with marginalization, extreme poverty and other human rights violations globally. The linguistic rights of indigenous peoples must be an integral part of the human rights agenda. In response to these threats, the United Nations General Assembly adopted a Resolution on 'Rights of Indigenous Peoples', proclaiming 2019 as the International Year of Indigenous Languages, and 2023-2033 as the International Decade of Indigenous Languages.

National Science Week

For National Science Week 2018, VAEAI published Koorie Perspectives in STEM, where you can learn about Gunditjmara scientist Dr. Misty Jenkins' aim to cure brain cancer, Indigenous astronomers and astrophysicists, eel traps and award-winning bridges, ancient engineering feats and much more. Our Koorie Seasons and Astral Calendars feature also relates to National Science Week and STEM learning.

Krystal De Napoli is a Kamilaroi astrophysicist. With a cadetship with the CSIRO's Data61 team and has worked closely with Astronomer Dr Hamacher and Elders, researching Indigenous astronomical traditions. According to De Napoli in 2019, 'As long as we can see the sky, we can see our stories.' Investigate Aboriginal astronomy and the work of contemporary astronomers.

Connecting with this year's theme, explore the work of Victoria's own, Wathaurong Glass & Arts, community-owned by the Wathaurong Aboriginal Cooperative, based in Geelong.

Born in Woomera, SA in 1973 Kokatha and Nukunu glass artist Yhonnie Scarce shines a light on nuclear testing on her homelands, and the oppression of Aboriginal people through her prolific and powerful work exhibited internationally. Investigate.

Even though I'm technically trained, I call myself an artist who uses glass, rather than a 'glass artist', because for me glass is simply a medium to tell stories like this one. Aboriginal people are often seen as fragile, but we are pretty tough – we've dealt with a lot over the past 200 years. Similarly, glass has a lot of strength. Even though it's delicate, it doesn't always break and, if it does, there are always remnants left...!

Did you know that The Boorong people of the Wergaia language group near Lake Tyrell in NW Victoria, described more than 40 star and planet names and their associated stories to the Englishman William Stanbridge in the 1840s, which he published in 1857?

STEM is about focusing on specific knowledge across the four learning areas of Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics; and the interrelationship between them. Integrating Koorie perspectives into these four learning areas, supports a range of alternative viewpoints and can foster a deeper engagement in these four learning areas.

National Science Week is Australia's annual celebration of science and technology and thousands of individuals – from students, to scientists to chefs and musicians – get involved, taking part in more than 1000 science events across the nation.

National Science Week provides an opportunity to acknowledge the contributions of Australian scientists to the world of knowledge. It also aims to encourage an interest in science pursuits among the general public, and to encourage younger people to become fascinated by the world we live in.

The school theme for National Science Week in 2022 is Glass: More than meets the eye. It is based on the UN International Year of Glass. It will celebrate the many roles that glass plays in our lives – from phone screens to optical fibre to glassware in labs – plus investigating glass as a part of our sustainable future. The uses for and intrinsic nature of glass in science make it a suitable topic for investigation across all strands of science education.

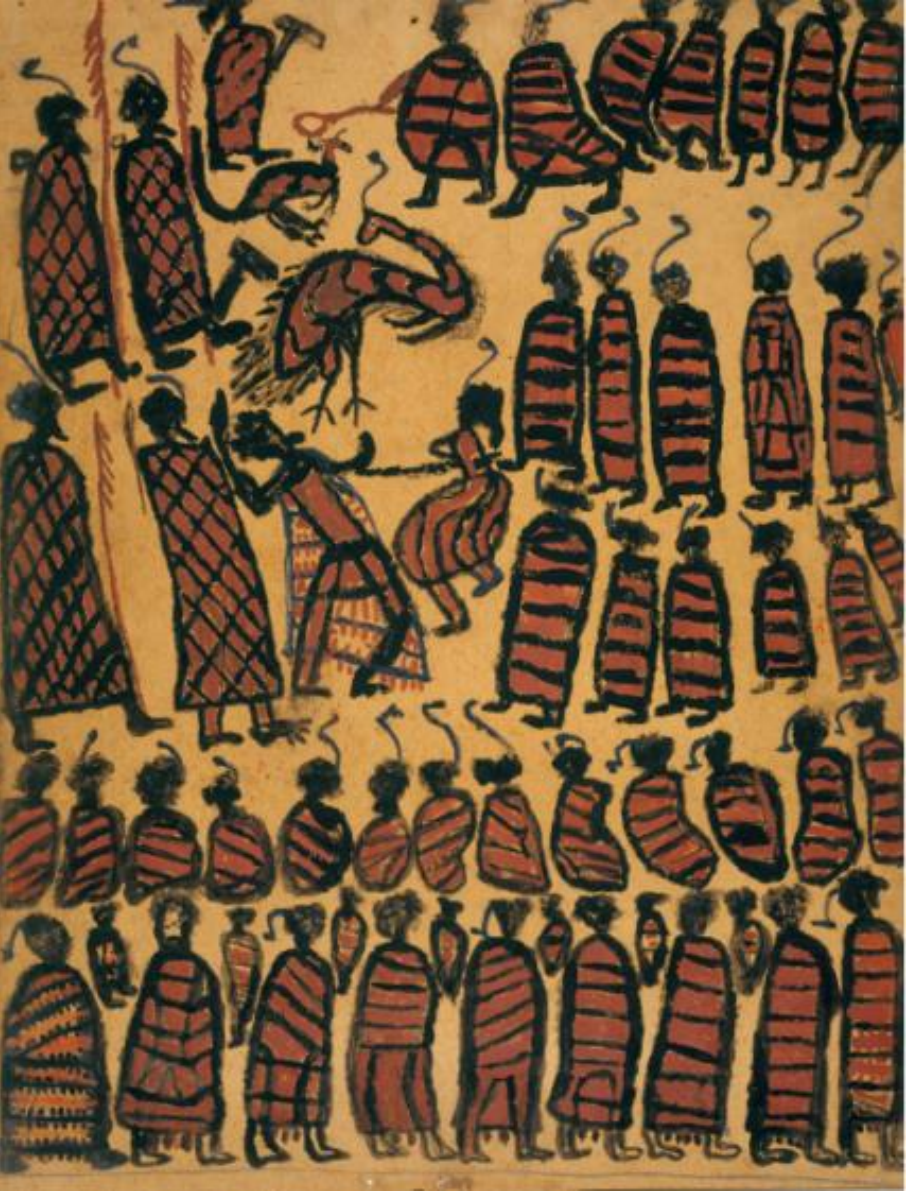

There are a lot of ways you can get your students, class, year level, school and community involved in National Science Week. Your participation can be as simple as a display in the school library, a Brain Break quiz event or as complex as a whole-school science fair. Here are some hints and tips for holding a great National Science Week event at your school.

Koorie Education Calendar 2022

OCTOBER

True spring: Poorneet or tadpole season by the Wurundjeri.

With the weather warming up after a long cold in many parts of Victoria, explore Koorie seasons in your region, like the 6-7 seasons of the Wurundjeri and learn about how seasonal change is signalled through plants, animals and other signs such as the night sky. Where possible, invite knowledgeable Koorie cultural educators into the classroom to discuss further.

View and download VAEAI's Koorie Seasons and Astral Calendars feature - an interactive teaching resource exploring seasons and traditional activities, with a host of online resources, suggested activities and links to the Vic Curriculum.

Learn about significant foods and plants for Koories in Victoria such as the staple murnong (yam daisy) for the Wurundjeri and other Kulin.

Focus some learnings around the night sky. The sky was and remains a stellar calendar indicating when the seasons are shifting and when certain foods are available. For example within the spread of the Milky Way an emu is visible – not a constellation as such but a clear emu shape formed in the blend of star and black matter. At different times of the year this Emu in the Sky is oriented, so it appears to be either running or sitting down. When the emu is 'sitting', it is time to collect their eggs.

Did you know that in late 2017, the International Astronomical Union (IAU) approved 86 new names for stars drawn from those used by other cultures, namely Australian Aboriginal, Chinese, Coptic, Hindu, Mayan, Polynesian, and South African?

Four Aboriginal Australian star names were added to the IAU stellar name catalogue, including the Wardaman names Larawag, Ginan, and Wurren for the stars designated  $\epsilon$  (Epsilon) Scorpii,  $\epsilon$  (Epsilon) Crucis, and  $\zeta$  (Zeta) Phoenicis, respectively, and significantly from Victoria, the Boorong name Unurgunite for the star (Sigma) Canis Majoris (an ancestral figure who fights the Moon), representing some of the most ancient star names in the IAU catalogue.

“Aboriginal ancestral narratives aren't just about the land – they're also about the Sun, the Moon and the stars. Indigenous people have a very holistic understanding of the universe. It doesn't just stop at the horizon.”

On 21 November 2004, Michael Long embarked an historic trek, walking from his home in the suburbs of Melbourne all the way to Parliament House in Canberra – more than 650 kilometres away.

After returning home from yet another Aboriginal funeral, Michael decided that something needed to be done about the plight of his people. He took it upon himself to get Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander issues back on the national agenda and resolved to meet with Prime Minister John Howard to discuss his concerns... even if he had to walk all the way to Canberra to do it.

Michael was joined on the road by Aboriginal and non-Aboriginal supporters from all over Australia. Some walked in support for an hour, some for a day and some took the journey all the way to Canberra. As the walkers passed through the Victorian countryside, local people came out to meet them, offering encouragement, support and assistance.

Walk the Talk tells the story of Michael Long's walk to Canberra to introduce Aboriginal & Torres Strait Islander Studies into schools and encourage students to create change; while assisting in meeting the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander history and cultures cross curriculum priority of the Australian National Curriculum.

5 Dec.	Anniversary of Ebenezer mission reserve handover	Locate and learn about the Ebenezer reserve on the mission voices website. When the mission was closed down in 1905 many residents were forced to relocate to Lake Tyers in Gippsland. Using maps locate all Victorian reserves and missions and discuss what it may have been like for those who had settled at Ebenezer to be forced to live outside of their Country, on land where they had no spiritual and cultural connections. Read about an ambitious project connecting faces in 19th Century photographs to their contemporary Aboriginal descendants to tell a new history - in effect injecting Victorian Aboriginal voices and perspectives into history - taken at Ramahyuck Mission. Related to this project is the multimedia story 'No Longer a Wandering Spirit: the story of Bessy Flowers' on YouTube, who was sent away from her ancestral home in Albany Southern Western Australia at the age of 18 sent to live and teach at Ramahyuck Mission where she married a skilled Victorian Aboriginal station worker Donald Cameron, from Ebenezer Mission, in NW Victoria.	Ebenezer mission  http://pandora.nla.gov.au/pan/44035/20061123-0000/www.abc.net.au/missionvoices/ebenezer/default.html https://www.nationaltrust.org.au/wp-content/uploads/2014/01/Fact-Sheet-Ebenezer-Mission.pdf http://www3.slv.vic.gov.au/latrobejournal/issue/latrobe-76/t1-g-t3.html Handover  https://www.nationaltrust.org.au/news/ebenezer-mission-handed-back-to-traditional-owners/ http://www.mailtimes.com.au/story/1955786/ebenezer-mission-returns-to-traditional-owner/ Ramahyuck Mission  https://www.ramahyuck.org/about/ramahyuck-a-history/ https://www.findandconnect.gov.au/guide/vic/E000927 Aboriginal voices in the afterlife of photographs  https://pursuit.unimelb.edu.au/articles/aboriginal-voices-in-the-afterlife-of-photographs No Longer a Wandering Spirit  https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=vCar1eaf6Gc	Did you know that in 1872, Gippsland's Ramahyuck Mission State School gained the highest marks possible in a Statewide examination? "This school has again passed an excellent examination. This is the first case since the present result system has been enforced that 100% of marks was gained by any school in the Colony. The children, moreover, show not only accuracy in their work, but also exhibit much intelligence – excellent progress is shown..." Report by Charles Topp, Inspector of School for the Education Department Significantly, the students' teacher was Bessie Flower, originally from Albany WA thought to be the first Aboriginal state-school teacher.	On Thursday 5th December 2013, the National Trust handed over their freehold interests in the Ebenezer Mission, Antwerp to the Barengi Gadjin Land Council Aboriginal Corporation - Traditional Owners, Registered Aboriginal Party and Native Title Holders. The Ebenezer Mission was first gazetted in 1861 as the Lake Hindmarsh Aboriginal Reserve and was later closed in 1904. From 1968 until 1991, the National Trust managed the whole site of 0.8Ha, assuming Committee of Management status for the Crown Land reserve and freehold ownership of the balance of the site. The Crown Land reservation was revoked in 1991 and the Crown allotment was sold as freehold land to Goolum Goolum Aboriginal Co-op Ltd., a health and welfare cooperative. In recent years the Barengi Gadjin Land Council have managed the site on the behalf of Goolum Goolum and the National Trust.

This determination was particularly significant for the Jadawadjali and Wergaia peoples as it was the first successful native title claim in south-eastern Australia. 2015 marks the 10th anniversary of this historic settlement. Justice Merkel said the success of the Wotjobaluk, Jaadwa, Jadawadjali, Wergaia and Jupagalk peoples' native title claims was testimony to their acknowledgement of traditional laws and observance of customs. He said the case was "a living example" that traditional laws were not fixed and unchanging. Rather, they evolved over time in response to changing social and economic needs to which all societies adapted.

Koorie children all over our lands visited by Santa overnight!

The Extraordinary Tale of William Buckley (2010) presented by Michael Cathcart, tells the story. Adapted from journalist John Morgan's 1852 book, and based on William Buckley's own personal accounts, The Extraordinary Tale of William Buckley tells the remarkable true story of the escaped convict who lived with the Wathaurong long before white colonisation.

On a stifling hot Christmas night in 1803, William Buckley, a young English convict, escaped from the doomed first settlement of Port Phillip Bay in South-eastern Australia, and joined the Wathaurong people for 32 years.

An accompanying study guide to The Extraordinary Tale of William Buckley is available through ATOM.

The SLV Ergo site has some great background information and resources about William Buckley.

Did you know that on Christmas Eve 1803, convict William Buckley escaped from Sullivan Bay settlement near Sorrento, travelled by foot along Port Phillip Bay and then lived with the Wathaurong People for 32 years before returning to colonial settlements?
